Your Educaton	Your Education offers various scholarships throughout the year so keep an eye on the website!	www.youreducation.co.nz
Rotary and Lions Club	Visit your local Rotary or Lions Club branch as they often have monetary grants to give to students that show potential and commitment like you.	https://my.rotary.org/ https://lionfoundation.nz/
Iwi Support	If you have Maori ancestry there may well be grants or scholarships that you are eligible to apply for. Check with your tribe, hapu or iwi to see if there is anything available, or if not, it is still worth approaching them with a proposal for them to contribute towards your exchange.	http://www.maorieducation.org.nz
Local Business Sponsor	If you're feeling really brave, approach several businesses in your area and let them know about your exchange goals and how you would benefit from their sponsorship. Perhaps you could start with the businesses where your parents work, or even your employer if you have a part-time job? You may be asked to do some work for them in return for their support but it will all work in your favor.
Community Sponsorship	There are many other community scholarships and grants available for motivated students who are willing to go out there and look for them!	https://generosity.org.nz/
Get a Job	If you haven't already, get a CV made. Keep an eye out for jobs advertised at your local supermarket, fast food places, cafes and shops. Even if you can't see a job advertised, it pays to approach businesses and ask if they have anything going.
Online Fundraising	Another popular way to fundraise online is by starting a Give A Little page.	www.givealittle.co.nz
Busking	If you play an instrument, take to the streets and show off your talent. Or if you don't want to go alone, you can take someone with you and share the overall profits.
Write about it	So it might not earn you the big bucks, but get a story in your local newspaper about what you are trying to achieve, advertise the events that you are hosting and try to raise local interest in what you are doing.
Garage Sale or Trademe Blitz	Organise a garage sale - clear out your wardrobe and get your friends and family to contribute all their unwanted items. Or else sell things you don't want anymore on Trademe. And while you're clearing out your old things, you're conveniently making space for all the news things you'll no doubt buy when you're overseas on exchange!
Maybe your school can help?	Mufti Day - Check with your school if they could host a mufti day for you. Maybe half or even all of the earnings will go towards paying for your exchange! It could be a themed mufti based on whichever country you decide to go to. See what your school has to say.
Get creative	Channel your arty side and sell your own paintings and arts & crafts at a local market. You could make things such as birthday cards, mini sculptures, drawings or do face painting for kids! Let your creativity inspire you.
Be sponsored	Enter an event yourself, such as a local fun run or bikeathon and collect sponsorship money.

Host an Evening or Event	Everyone enjoys a night out, so think of a theme for a party and charge an entry fee. Be creative. Some Ideas of events students have done in the past are: Movie Night - Organise a movie night with your friends or see if your school could host it in the school hall. Get plenty of blankets and comfy couches and sell tickets to anyone who wants to come. Themed Evening - host an evening with friends and family, using your host country as a theme. For example, if you're hoping to go to France you could have French food and music and get everyone to dress in French outfits and berets. Or if you're going to America, organise a cowboy dance night with line dancing, straw hats and hamburgers. Whatever you do, make sure you have fun! Cultural Performances - Are you part of a kapa haka group? A musical band? A singing group? You could go around to various places (rest homes are a great place to go especially for singing and music groups) and perform to a crowd, asking for a gold coin donation.
Food, food, food	Homemade food is always popular and you can definitely make a profit with a few simple recipes. You could make fudge, toffee, cakes, biscuits, jams, pickles...the list goes on! Sell them at school, or even get your parents to take them in to work and sell them to their colleagues on your behalf.
Local Produce	Think about what your local area has in abundance. It might be feijoas, oranges, or maybe a local orchard will be willing to donate fruit or vegetables that are not quite up to supermarket standards. You can sell these in small bags and the profits will be yours.
The Village Press	This Hawkes Bay olive oil company allows you to sell their products as a fundraiser and take a share of the profit. They come in lovely gift boxes so are ideal as corporate or personal gifts.	www.thevillagepress.co.nz
Cadbury Chocolate Fundraiser	Everyone loves chocolate right? So get your friends to help you fundraise by targeting their taste buds.	https://www.interworldfundraising.co.nz/
Sausage Sizzle	These are always popular- just the smell of sizzling sausages will have people coming from all directions.
Odd Jobs	There are plenty of odd jobs that need doing in the community that people would be willing to pay you for. Tell your neighbours that you're working to fundraise for your exchange and put a poster in the local supermarket or shop to advertise your expertise. Here are a few suggestions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Car Washes Gardening/Farm Work Babysitting Dog Walking Tutoring Cleaning Windows
